PROFILE

As a developer I am development-focused and always open to new challenges and input. I successfully work on an independent level, while also being an efficient and enthusiastic member of the team. My predominant focus is in the area of programming, nevertheless I am open to pursuing further tasks and thus expanding my horizons.

I have gained valuable knowledge from working in different industries. Being an instructor and a warehouse manager in international companies has given me the opportunity to acquire social skills that will be very helpful in future projects.
